Our Town

By Peggy Blanchard ....

To Householders, C. C. Pray's exhibit of how-to-grow-grass was one of the most fascinating at the County Fair.

He's the man who prepares the ground work for local commercial nurseries, so his illustration of each step in the process of creating a velvety lawn was straight from headquarters.

Mossholders—one of the big nurseries he serves — provided shrubbery as a background for the exhibit. Mr. Pray showed the rough, broken earth as it looks just after a home is built; then he had leveled a parcel of ground and treated it with loam; and finally he actually planted new grass, which grew and flourished as the fair progressed.

His exhibit was arranged on invitation of the Nursery Association and was not entered for prizes.

(We're going to be householders pretty son, now.—Mr. Pray, here we come for some advice!)

★ ★ ★

Surely hope the Orchard City Grange will ask us back sometime. We were mighty sorry to miss that pot-luck supper Tuesday evening.

★ ★ ★

You will think we're proud of our Campbell exhibitors at the Fair this year—we are. Space does not allow for re-mention of the Campbell women who won prizes and the many others who took part, but each of them is making a real contribution to the standards of produce in the district—at Fair time and all year around.

★ ★ ★

Opening the Sunday paper at our house brought pleased exclamations from the family over the attractive photo of "our" Mr. and Mrs. Patrick H. Peabody. And we are more than a little proud to learn they are guarantors of the opera season in San Jose—just one of a good many community duties they have undertaken without fanfare. We merely mention it because the boss is out-of-town and can't tell us not to. He's one of those rare employers who does NOT want personal publicity in his own newspaper.

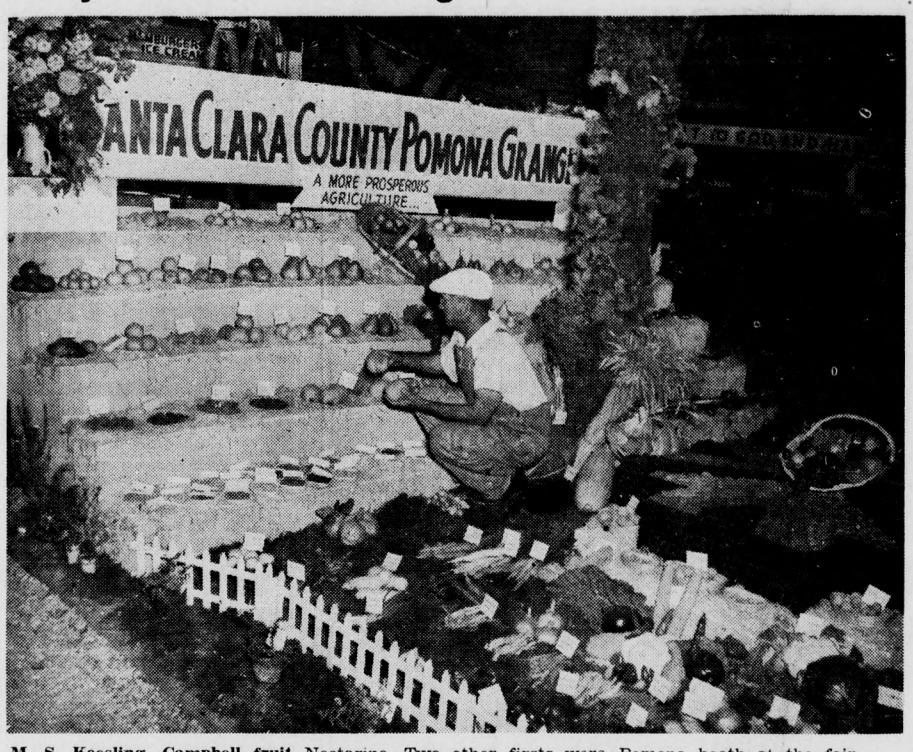
Speaking of community duties —each and every one of us has a dandy opportunity coming up to help our neighbors. The Community Chest Fund campaign will open in ten days, providing a chance for every man and woman in this district to be a partner in good works for a whole year—a bargain in beneficence, since we can name our own budgets for giving.

If you want to give more than money, you can donate some time as a campaign solicitor, or as a leader in Chest-supported projects. Do you recall the Christmas message sent out by one Salvation Army head on a much limited budget? He wanted to wire greetings to all of his captains, but could only afford to send one word to each.

The word he decided upon was—"Others." It's a wonderful word, containing a good bit of happiness for all who remember it.

Campbell Grower Brings Home 11 Blue Ribbons



M. S. Keesling, Campbell fruit grower, was awarded eleven first prizes in individual competition at the third annual Santa Clara County Fair last week in San Jose.

Peach varieties that won him the coveted blue ribbons are the J. H. Hale, Red Hale, Crawford, Tuscan Cling, Salway, Rio Oso Gem, Guame Cling, Lovell and Red Nectarine. Two other firsts were for his Tragedy plums and Santa Rosa plums. He has exhibited two previous years and has won awards each time, but out-did his own record in the 1947 exposition.

Mr. Keesling is steward of both the Pomona and Orchard City Granges and was chairman of the Pomona booth at the fair.

Serving with him in building, decorating and caring for the exhibit were Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Hughes, Campbell; Mr. and Mrs. Don Buck, San Jose; Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Beale, Cupertino; Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Coonradt, Los Gatos, and Mrs. Keesling.

Urges Yes Vote On Water Ballot

Some 100 members of the West Side Farm Bureau Center Monday night approved building of the Lexington Dam on Los Gatos creek.

The issue will be voted upon October 7.

The meeting was held in Campbell Union Grammar school, where William Ward, chairman of the water committee for the Santa Clara County Farm Bureau, explained to members the great need of water for irrigation. He pointed out that water levels in wells have dropped considerably in the past few years and that irrigation costs have increased at a rapid rate because of the necessity of lowering pumps and boring new wells.

Ward urged growers to vote in favor of dam bonds October 7 and asked them to encourage their city friends to do the same.

Harold Hocking, Center chairman, was in charge of the meeting.

Former Campbell Resident Dies

Mrs. Josie Cowan, formerly of 309 Harrison avenue, Campbell, died Sept. 20 in a Seattle, Wash., hospital.

She is survived by her husband, Orville Cowan; two children, Gary and Lola Cowan, and her mother, Mrs. Berti Peck, Campbell.

The Cowan family moved to North Bend, Wash., in June. Mrs. Cowan was a teacher of Hawaiian music here.

Legion To Hear Navy Commander

That a commander of the 12th U. S. Navy District will address a public meeting of Campbell Post No. 596, American Legion, in the IOOF hall Oct. 8 was announced at a meeting Wednesday evening.

The post's holiday dance was set for December 20 in Campbell Union High school gymnasium.

Heads Chest Campaign Here

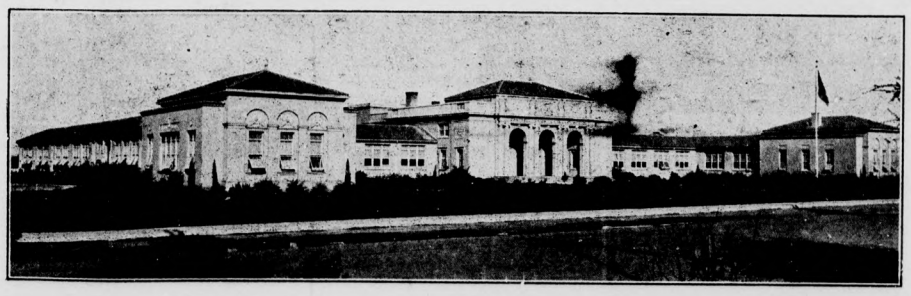
Ray Fish will head the 1947-48 Community Chest Fund campaign for the Campbell district.

Announcement of his appointment was made Tuesday by the Campbell Community Council after his selection by a committee composed of Laurance J. Hill, William Henley, and Louis Carboni.

The $3500 campaign is to get under way Oct. 6 and teams of workers and their chairmen are now being readied. Their names and those of volunteer solicitors will be announced in next week's issue of The Press.

Mr. Fish is a long-time resident of Campbell and is co-owner of The What Not shop.

CAMPBELL GROWTH REFLECTED IN SCHOOL REGISTRATION



Bentel Speaks At Kiwanis Luncheon

Dwight Bentel, head of the San Jose State College Journalism department, spoke on "Libels" Tuesday afternoon before a large turnout of Kiwanians at their regular luncheon meeting.

Laurance Hill was chairman of the program which also included a marimba solo by Miss Patti Saunders, a solo by Miss Mary Alice Grim and one by Miss Mildred Weeks. They were accompanied by Mrs. David Saunders. Several guests were present from Los Gatos and San Jose Kiwanis clubs.

Also presented as a guest was Rev. Lawrence Osborne's father, T. E. Osborne of Franklin, Penn., who is visiting at the Osborne home.

Campbell Union Grammar School Enrollment Largest In History

With a total of 1745 pupils attending classes in the Campbell Union Grammar school, the school is bulging at the seams with the largest enrollment in its history, according to William C. Henley, superintendent.

The figures, when broken down, show that 972 of the students enrolled are attending the morning sessions of the Campbell school, and will remain in this school.

Four hundred and fifty-nine students from the Moorpark school district are attending afternoon classes with 293 students from the San Tomas area. These will move into the new schools as soon as they are completed.

Henley reported that an additional 21 students from the Campbell district were at present attending classes from hospital beds.

The total enrollment of 1745 is 325 higher than last year and enrollment is expected to reach 1900 within a few weeks.

Buses are now working overtime on a busy schedule that starts at 7:30 a.m. and continues throughout the day with 36 different trips being made and 11 drivers on the routes.

HAWAII VS. SAN JOSE

The Hawaiian All-Star football team will play the San Jose Spartans Friday night, the Hawaiian team having arrived here by air.

Ralph Vannuccis Are Grandparents

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Vannucci of Campbell are the proud and excited grandparents of a granddaughter, who arrived Sept. 19 at the Good Samaritan hospital in Los Angeles. Parents of the new baby who has been named Morine Rosemary, are Mr. and Mrs. Morrie Freeman, Jr. Morine Rosemary weighed 7 pounds 3½ ounces. Mrs. Freeman is the former Norma Vannucci of Campbell and is a graduate of Campbell Union High school. The young couple were married two years ago in Los Vegas and have been making their home in Beverly Hills.

Mrs. Freeman has frequently appeared in movies, her last, which was shown here in Campbell, being "Betty Co-Ed," in which she played under the name of Norma Vance. She was instructed in dramatics by Miss Johnson of Saratoga, who also instructed Olivia de Havilland and Joan Fontaine.

FOOD SALE SCHEDULED

A food sale will be held Saturday in the old Post Office Building by members of the St. Yucy's Evening Guild, according to a recent announcement by Mrs. Ana Dardanelli, president of the group. The sale, which will start at 9 o'clock, will be for the church benifit. Enchiladas will be featured with both Spanish and Mexican enchiladas on sale.

High School Starts Paper Drive

"Have you any old papers to spare?"

This question will be asked thousands of times during the next few days in Campbell, as the students of the high school comb the town in their annual paper drive.

The Associated Stundents are taking this method to try to meet "the high cost of living,, in the school activities. Prizes are being awarded both to the class securing the greatest total poundage, and to the most successful individual solicitors.

Anyone having any excess paper is requested to get in touch with any high school student, and tell him the most convenient time to call for it.

Dan Filice is general chairman of the drive.

To Consider Re-Zoning Of Neighborhoods

First hearings on proposed amendments to Santa Clara County Zoning ordinance No. 120, which, if adopted will affect Campbell property, will be held at 2:00 p.m. and at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday, October 1, in the Board of Supervisors chambers at the Court House in San Jose.

Santa Clara County Planning Commission will hold the hearings, to which all interested persons are invited. Further hearings are set for November 5.

Harrison street from Campbell avenue to a point some 323 feet north of Grant avenue would be re-zoned from an R-1 to an R-3 district by the proposal and the southwesterly corner of Payne avenue and the Saratoga-Santa Clara highway would become a C-1 zone.

The proposals will be considered by the Planning Commission after publication as directed by the law and prior to action on the part of the County Supervisors.

Safety Of Dams Upheld By State Engineers

State Engineers this week refuted claims by Stanley Mills, anti-Lexington Dam leader of Los Gatos, that the safety of the five dams in the county and of the proposed Lexington dam was questionable.

A. C. Edmonston, assistant state engineer, division of water resources, in a letter answering Mills' charges, stated that the five county dams, Coyote, Calero, Almaden, Guadelupe and Stevens creek, were checked on Sept. 10-11 by state engineers.

"This inspection reveals that although normal maintenance work is required at the five dams, no conditions presently exist which would endanger their safety," he said.

A copy of Edmonston's letter to Mills was sent to G. Walter Hunt, engineer for the Santa Clara Valley Water Conservation District, for filing in the public records of the district.

Mills, in a telegram to Edward Hyatt, state engineer, on Sept. 7, urgently requested an inspection of the five dams. From the reports of a private engineer, Mills stated the outlets in most of the dams were partially obstructed with silt and debris and might become wholly obstructed during winter months. Also that outlet chambers at Calero has settled and is badly cracked.

In an immediate answer to Mill's telegram, Edmonston's letter said that arrengements had been made the previous week to inspect the five dams on Sept. 10 and 11. Mills was invited to discuss the dams with the engineers. Edmonston's letter to Mills said that Mills didn't answer the telegram.

The $2,500,000 Lexington Dam bond election will be held Oct. 7.

Facing The Facts

By H. D. BLANCHARD

There isn't going to be any facetiousness or idle chatter about this column this week. We're going to face a few dry facts. The type of dryness that means just what the name implies. That is, the quality of being without water, moisture. This valley garden-spot is going to be in a tight spot agriculturally in a very few short years if steps are not taken immediately to alleviate the water shortage.

The ranchers hereabouts know the facts, or should. They've seen with practiced eye what happens when the wells dry up and water is rationed. They've seen the size and quality of their crops and their vineyards decrease with water decrease. The two go hand in hand, and the reflection comes immediately . . . in the prices they receive for their labor is in direct ratio to the amount of low-priced water they can count on. We've heard of wells so deep and scant that the amount of electric power needed to pump them was out of all proportion to the benefits resulting from their use. The logical answer at the moment seems to be to conserve and impound every drop of water the good Lord drops on our hills and valleys. Dams and reservoirs are certainly the answer.

NOT GREAT PROBLEM

The proposal to build the Lexington Dam, which is to be laid before the people for vote on October 7, should receive the serious consideration of all the people. problems of construction, safety and property rights invariably arise upon the suggestion of any improvement project. To this we can only say that any such problems have been successfully met on many another such construction job. Difficulties of far greater magnitude than anything we have heard about in relation to the Lexington Dam project seem commonplace to qualified engineers. Think back a couple of years to the great tasks performed by the Sea-Bees, the U. S. Engineers and private construction companies. There wasn't any question of "can it be done?" Hundreds of big jobs were done, in jig time and in safety. The motto was, "The difficult we will do immediately"; "the impossible takes a little longer."

FOR ALL

The crux of the matter is that water in perpetuity must be provided for this valley. The people of the world derive benefits from our produce. Not alone do we who live here gain. The products of this section go out in all directions with their life-giving benefits. Food is the cry of the world. The need for many years to come is vital. We're not in danger of producing too much. The danger is that we might not be able to produce at all beyond our own little needs if we don't safeguard our future water supply.

FORWARD THINKING

The metropolitan area of Los Angeles is a lively example of forward thinking in future needs. Had it not been for the building of Boulder Dam, Parker Dam and the All-American canal, that renowned area surely couldn't now boast of its future state of being the first city in the land. The Hetch-Hetchy water system flowing from the high Sierras and serving the San Francisco area is even now taxed to its extreme limits. The pipe line is capable of carrying sixty million gallons daily to the city. And there are times, on the so-called hot days in the city, when they could use twice that amount. The reserve reservoir system has capacity for only about eight days supply at peak loads. That's hardly a safety margin, and engineering steps are even now being taken to improve this situation. But the bare unvarnished facts are that we in our smaller way are not operating with any safety margin. The balance of economic safety can easily be upset by another winter or two of low precipitation such as we have had for the past two years. The Lexington Dam is not the cure-all for the water problems of this neighborhood. It is merely the first small step in forward thinking for future needs. The demands for an assured supply, and an increased supply will grow. We will not only need the Lexington Dam but other dams and reservoirs. In short, the need is now to take every step at our command to preclude the deterioration of our crop quality through a future shortage of this most vital of natural resources.

THE MIND OF MAN

What manner of critter are we, that we have the ability to create such a diabolic weapon of destruction as the atomic bomb and yet fail to devise a way to manufacture water? Here we sit with two-thirds of the earth's surface covered with the stuff, but we can't use it because it's salt-saturated. Wonder if any of the research scientists who think up the difficult have paused to consider the obvious needs?

We had occasion to take an airplane trip east this summer. Enroute we were re-routed from our course by bad weather. The plane was ordered to stop at Denver and await better weather. We circled the city, nestling in the mountains, and couldn't see a sign of the town, although the stewardess assured us it was right below us. The pilot circled around awhile and glided down to a perfect landing right smack on the run-way which we couldn't see until the wheels hit. "All routine," said the crew, "came right in on the radio beam." To our fledgling eyes it seemed miraculous. And now we read about a radio controlled plane flying to a pre-designated field in England and landing on its runway without the hand of man touching a control. It makes most of our ordinary problems look very elemental, doesn't it? Maybe we can yet figure out a way to make fresh water out of salt water, and pump it into our fields!

INCORORATE?

With the football season just getting under way, and the World Series classic of baseball set for next week, we didn't expect to hear much from the factions for and against the Campbell incorporation idea. But the past few days we have been besieged with pro and con theories, questions and debatable statements. The matter is under study by John Lynch, a former San Jose City manager who is reputed to be well qualified to make the research. If Mr. Lynch comes up with the bona fide facts and figures at the conclusion of his study, you may be assured they will be published in this paper, whether they reflect a "for or against" tone. We welcome all the facts in this controversial matter. Any reader who has opinions, that he honestly thinks are based on fact, may write us a signed letter and we will be happy to publish it in the paper. We believe that an informed public is the first essential in arriving at a sensible conclusion to this matter. For our part, we would like to know the basis and the reasoning for or against incorporation. Then let us weigh the facts and come to a logical conclusion.

Campbell Court Notes

By Judge Blaine

This man, 67, called on a Tuesday morning, traffic day, two hours before traffic time, which is 11 o'clock. The judge was very busy getting ready for an early morning trial. But he greeted the defendant cordially and patiently listened to his story.

Defendant said he had been in a hurry. A truck was in front of him, cars were coming in the opposite direction, and he had passed the truck on the right, on the shoulder. "No harm was done, and I don't see why I was arrested." All this he repeated several times.

When the judge had a chance he showed wherein the Vehicle Code, under Section 529, it is expressly said that under no circumstances shall a driver pass a vehicle going in the same direction by driving on the right shoulder. Then the judge asked, "What is your plea, guilty or not guilty?"

"Oh, I suppose I'm technically guilty, but I don't feel morally guilty."

"Well, under the circumstances, I'll let you off with a fine of two dollars. It's usually five."

"I think that under the circumstances I deserve more consideration."

Then the judge blew up. He pointed out that he had given the defendant 15 minutes of time reserved for important other duties and that his consideration was exhausted. But the defendant protested, "I thought that in coming two hours ahead of time I was showing consideration for you."

"I think that in this whole matter you have considered nobody except your self-righteous self. And I think you deserve a fine of $10. As for this consideration in coming two hours ahead of time, try it next time you have appointment with your dentist."

With this emphatic reference to the dentist the judge appeared to touch a sensative nerve—possibly ulcerated. The elderly defendant burst into tears. But he was a hero to himself to the last. After he had paid his fine he in leaving virtuously sobbed, "God bless you, Judge."

The naughty judge thought but did not say, "Devil take you, pious and self-righteous brother."

Mrs. Monica Parr gave further suggestions on flower arranging, gilting leaves and dried arrangements.

BRIDAL SHOWER

Mrs. A.F. McKinney and daughter Martha Platsis entertained the Ladies of the Campbell Baptist Church at a bridal shower, honoring Miss Bonnie Decker, last Thursday evening. Miss Decker is to be united in marriage to Mr. Larry Lewis on October 5th.

Wedding Vows Exchanged Here

A beautiful wedding solemnized last Sunday afternoon at the Campbell Congregational Church was that of Miss Nina Louise Page and Mr. Stanley Eugene Goold. The Rev. Robert Carlson officiated at the impressive double ring ceremony before a beautifully decorated alter of white flowers and greenery. Mrs. David Sanders, organist, provided the wedding music and Miss Gloria Surian, vocal soloist, sang "Because".

Escorted to the alter by her father, Mr. R. C. Page of Winchester Road, the bride was attired in an en train gown of white satin, styled with fitted bodice, lace Bertha and high neckline. Her lace-edged finger-tip veil was held in place by a crown of orange blossoms and she wore a string of pearls, gift of the groom. She carried a beautiful orchid, set in a frame of white gardinias, tied with long white satin streamers.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Marian Page, as maid of honor. She was attired in an aqua gown of taffeta, styled with fitted bodice, bouffant skirt and bustle back, with long gloves of matching material. She carried a French bouquet of pastel gladioli tips with a center of camellias and corn flowers.

Mr. Jay Goold stood with his brother as best man. Mr. Bill Page, brother of the bride, and Mr. Don Goold, brother of the groom, ushered the guests to their seats.

Mrs. Page attended her daughter's wedding in a royal blue crepe tailleur with brown and gold accessories. Mrs. Goold chose a black and yellow print Jersey with black accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of white gladioli.

The wedding service was followed by a reception for 150 guests at the Women's Club in Campbell. A five-tiered wedding cake, encircled with white esteret and bouvardia, centered the bride's table. The Irish linen, covered by a lace cloth, on this table was a wedding gift of the brides' mother, at her own wedding 28 years ago, and was given to her by her mother.

When the young couple left on their honeymoon, which they will spend at Carmel, the bride was attired in a sandy grey gabardine suit, which she accented with black accessories.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mrs. Jay Goold of Willow Glen. Both young people attended Campbell Union High school and San Jose State college, and the bridegroom will continue his studies there at the fall quarter. They will make their home in San Jose, where the bride has a position in the office of the Bell Telephone company.

The bride has been the recipient of several bridal showers in the past few weeks, one at the home of Miss Jean Graham on Hamilton Ave. and one at the home of Mrs. E. L. Dixon in San Jose.

COUNTRY WOMEN'S CLUB LUNCHEON LAUNCHES NEW YEAR

With attendance close to the hundred mark the Campbell Country Women's club opened its club year with a luncheon on Monday, Sept. 22, in the club hall. The tables were artistically decorated with clusters of green and purple grapes and zinnias arranged in baskets were placed about the room.

The Pledge of Allegiance, led by Mrs. R. C. Page, and singing of the Doxology, led by Mrs. G. H. Parker, preceded the luncheon which was served by members of the American Legion Auxiliary with Mrs. Barth O'Brien in charge.

At the conclusion of the luncheon, Mrs. Ira Grim, president, welcomed those in attendance and in calling the roll of past presidetns she received responses from Mesdames E. R. Kennedy, L. J. Carboni, D. H. Cramer, Edna Smith, R. H. Hyde, W. R. Morgan, C. B. Field, G. E. Jeffers, E. I. Price and H. F. Cousins, who were all seated at the speaker's table.

Mrs. George Jeffers, chairman for the afternoon, introduced R. J. Steacy as speaker. Mr. Steacy is manager of the San Jose Coca Cola bottling plant and as a representative of this company spent time in Italy both during and after the war. In the war years he was engaged in setting up bottling plants to serve the army and many times was close to the firing line.

In his address Mr. Steacy emphasized the fact that we can no longer ignore the needs of other countries and must accept the fact that our country is the leader in the world. Therefore, it is up to all of us to learn all possible about conditions in other countries and help prevent the war's recurrance.

Music for the afternoon was furnished by Miss Mary Alice Grim, who sang "Come and Trip It" and "Sweet Song of Long Ago." Miss Patti Saunders gave two marimba solos, "Sweet Sixteen" and "When Irish Eyes Are Shining" and Miss Mildred Weeks sang "There Is A Lady" and "The Star." Mrs. David Sanders was accompanist.

Mrs. Archie Keesling, who leaves Friday for an indefinite stay in the Hawaiian Islands, was given a musical Aloha by Miss Grim, accompanied by Miss Saunders on the marimba.

Members of the executive board Mesdames I. H. Grim, F. A. aJcobson, J. M. aDhl, C. E. Hancock, Dean Chamberlain, D. A. Sanders, H. F .Cousins, Laurance Hill, and Frank Coombs, were hostesses for this meeting.

Wedding Date Set For Decker-Lewis

Wedding announcements are in the mail for the October 5 wedding of Miss Bonnie Leigh Decker to Mr. Lawrence Raymond Lewis, Jr., at the Neighborhood Church on Willow street and Chabrant Way in San Jose. The formal vows will be exchanged at three o'clock in the afternoon.

Miss Decker is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dillard J. Decker and is a graduate of the 1946 class of Campbell Union High school. Mr. Lewis holds the rank of Pfc. in the Army Air Force and is a specialized C-54 mechanic. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Raymond Lewis, Sr., former Campbell residents, and was president of the student body of Campbell high school at the same time Miss Decker held the office of student body secretary. He is also a graduate of the 1946 class.

The young couple plan to reside in Holyoke, Mass., which is near Westover Field where Mr. Lewis has been stationed for the last year. He is now on leave and must report back on October 14.

RETURN FROM TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. David Sanders and daughters, Joan and Mardell, returned recently from a four weeks' trip which took them through Canada, the New England states and back home through the middle eastern and western states. Leaving by train they arrived in Detroit in time to pick up a new car and then motored during the remainder of the trip, stopping off for several days in New Brunswick, Canada, and New York. They also stopped in Dayton, Ohio, where they looked up Joe Agostinho who is stationed at Wright Field.

READERS' LETTERS

Gentlemen:

Please renew my yearly subscription. Attached herewith, my personal check for $2.00.

As with past years, this year at this time is showing a rapid decrease in visitation to this National Monument. We have had somewhat over 13 thousand visit us this year which represents a 10 percent increase over last year and becomes the leading year since 1939. Summer travel, however, has now passed its peak and until Spring we shall find spare time to catch up the odds and ends of neglected jobs.

I am enclosing a folder of information regarding Aztec Ruins which you may find of interest, and which may be of use in directing any Campbell-ites this way.

We are enjoying the "PRESS" a great deal. It keeps us up-to-date with the rapidly growing community of our birth and early rearing and, as well, the comings and goings of our many friends.

Cordially yours,

IRVING D. TOWNSEND,

Superintendent.

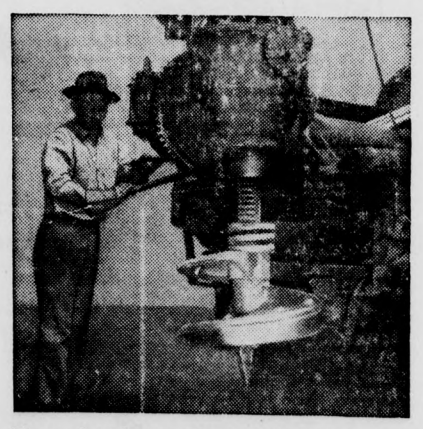
New ways the telephone can reach remote areas

Radio telephone allows your voice to "ride the beam" into Death Valley, across the channel to Catalina Island . . . to Mount Hood . . . between Marysville and Redding. With transmitters like this one we can span sea or desert by radio and your voice sounds exactly as though it were coming over a telephone wire.

Power-line carrier is another new device which makes telephone communications possible in remote, sparsely settled districts. Your voice "hitch-hikes" along existing power lines on radio waves that are tuned to follow the wires. Several power-line systems are now used on the Pacific Coast . . . and they're as safe and effective to use as any.



These developments are dramatic . . . but most of our expansion program must be pushed with "everyday" things like this post-hole digger . . . wires and cables and switchboards. Our construction program of $200,000,000 this year brings us closer to our goal: the finest telephone service for the West.

New Working Dollars . . . Millions of new dollars needed to build buildings and buy new equipment to meet the public demand for more telephones and more service do not come from telephone bills. New dollars come from people who are willing to put their savings into the business. We must earn enough to attract these new working dollars.

TO RESUME HUGHES QUIZ

Washington—Last word has not been heard of the senate probe of Howard Hughes, the Hollywood plane builder and chief owner of Trans-World Airways.

Inside fact is that Sen. Vandenberg of Michigan and other GOP senate chiefs have demanded that Sen .Brewster call Hughes back to Washington for another going-over.

Republican leaders say that the way the probe backfired in Brewster's face was very bad politics and left a sour taste in the public's mouth. They want this taste removed.

Brewster has assured Vandenberg and the others that a rehearing will be held as soon as his sidekick, Sen. Ferguson of Michigan, returns from a European trip in November. To this end, committee sleuths are doing their best to dig up more dirt to throw at Hughes when the gong sounds for round two.

Meanwhile Democratic leaders have not been idle. They are quietly working on evidence that Sen. Brewster was linked with Pan American Airways, rival to Trans-World Airways. If their evidence shapes up, they will move for impeachment of Brewster.

INSIDE RUSSIA

While it's difficult to know exactly what's going on inside Russia, one significant fact is that Stalin is not making the same mistake Hitler did of trusting his generals. The Russian general staff has now been thoroughly dispersed.

While Hitler broke up trade unions and disrupted private business, he kept the German general staff intact. Eventually this proved his own undoing. For about the time the Allies invaded France, the general staff turned against him and in July, 1944, almost assassinated him.

The Russian dictatorship, however, has made sure that generals who get too powerful are shifted to distant posts or liquidated. The execution of seven high Russian generals before the war is the extreme illustration of how the Kremlin treats military leaders it does not trust.

A milder form has been the transfer of Marshal Zhukov, hero of Berlin, to the relatively obscure command of Odessa.

Reliable intelligence reports from Moscow indicate that the politiburo is determined to take no chances with a strong Russian general staff.

PRORE RISING COSTS

J. Edgar Hoover has asigned several hundred G-men to track down conspiracies to raise the price of food, clothing and housing. Already the FBI has found that some industry representatives have been keeping deliberately false minutes of their meetings to cover up secret price fixing.

TRAGIC PROBLEM

Most tragic problem in the Indonesian fighting is the fate of the 100,000 Eurasians of Dutch and native ancestry.

Dutch settlers in the archipelago have been intermarrying with native women since the 17th century. Their offspring ,officially known as Indo-Europeans, consutute a large and important population element. They are educated and before the war occupied important business and governmental posts.

During their occupation, the Japs created a schism between the Eurasians and natives. As a result, when the Japs were evicted, tn enatives turew the Eurasians into concentration camps.

When the British landed, pending the arival of Dutch forces, ed, the natives threw the Eurasians .But thousands of others, deep in the interior where the British could not penetrate, still are held as prisoners.

What the fate of the hapless Eurasians will be when the fighting ceases is still anyones' guess. The natives hate them and the Dutch are in a difficult position to protect them.

HISTORY OF CAMPBELL

By T. A. CUTTING

The San Juan Bautista rancho of 8,879 acres, five miles directly south of San Jose, was granted to Augustino Narvaez and confrimed in 1844. There was planted the first privately owned vineyard of the valley about 1850. Cuttings of the fine stocks were brought from France by Lefranc who at that time purchased a part of the rancho. In early days, great numbers of grizlies infested the hills each of the rancho and raided the flocks of sheep and goats pastured there.

The owners of the herds which roved freely over the valley lived for the most part at the pueblo or at the mission. They lived for the most part at the pueblo or at the mission. The grazing grants were rudely surveyed by use of the lariat as a measure of length, and streams and such objects as trees or rocks were taken as landmarks. On each rancho was a fenced corral but few, if any, buildings or other improvements.

The branding usually took place in March. The owner of some rancho would lead off by issuing a call for a rodeo. Vaqueros from all the ranchos in the valley would respond, for the cattle of any one or all of them might be grazing on the owner's land. All cattle found on the rancho would be driven in to the corral. A calf would be given the brand of the cow it followed. A weaned calf or colt that did not follow its dam was given the brand of the rancho upon which it was found. When all the animals grazing on one rancho had been branded and treated the rodeo moved to another.

Spaniards were expert horseman. They could lasso steers by horn or hoof, overtake galloping bulls and throw them to the ground by means of their tails. They could pick coins from the ground while riding at full speed. Vaqueros would ride their mounts upon the floor of the dance and make them curvet and keep time to the music. The rodeo attended by vaqueros from all over the valley mixed business with pleasure. The day's work was always followed by a barbecue; and in the evening there would be dancing and general gayety.

A couple of months after the rodeos, usually [illegible] would come the matanzas, or slaughtering. By that time most of the season's rain would have fallen and the pasture could be estimated. In a dry year when feed was scarce more of the stock would be killed than in a wet one. Hides were dried in the sun, tallow tried out and put in skin bags for the later making of soap. Choice strips of flesh were also dried in the sun. The rest of the carcass was discarded. Hides passed as a medium of exchange at $2 each and were used in the purchase of goods when New Bedford ships came to the Embarcadero. At weddings or other special occasions on the great ranchos festivities might continue for two or three weeks with guests coming from ranchos many miles distant. The few families that prided themselves upon their pure Castilian blood were all interrelated.

One of the Santa Clara mission ranchos extended to San Francisquito creek which to-day separates Palo Alto from Menlo Park. After a matanza there about 1835 Don Jose Joaquin and ten soldiers from the presidio of San Francisco came down to hunt bears. At nightfall the grzzlies came out of the woods by the score to feast upon the discarded remnants of the slaughtered beeves. The soldier-vaqueros lassoed and killed forty of the beasts before dawn. The method was for one horseman to lasso the head and another the hind legs and then pull in opposite directions.

San Jose was the social center of the valley in rancho days, and groups of mounted caballeros with guitars would parade the streets stopping at the houses of the most charming senoritas to serenade. The inhabitants were light hearted and religious. Public balls, fiestas and church festivals were frequent; and also there were exclusive fandangos at the homes of the dons Sunol, Pico and Bernal. Guests arriving tinsel or perfume and the frolics would sometimes end in water fights.
